Let's Start!

You are incredibly talented!

Learning Outcome

Identify and provide solutions to problems in a range of social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How would you describe your friends?
- What words would they use to describe you?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about people's behavior and personality.
- I can ask questions about how people are.
- I can describe friends and people I know.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Marco talk about friends. Who does Peter e-mail now and again?

* "Now and again" means sometimes.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Mmm ... this stir-fry smells delicious! Cheers to the cook!
- Marco: Cheers to you, my sweet. You are incredibly talented in the kitchen and I have a lot to learn from you.
- Vanessa: You're right - your stir-fry is the best and I did learn a lot watching you. You cook so effortlessly. It is something to watch!
- Marco: So, how's Sally doing? Is she back from her travels?
- Vanessa: Yeah, she's back and as vivacious as ever. She seems refreshed and thrilled to be back.
- Marco: How busy is Peter these days?
- Vanessa: He's waiting to hear back from a job he applied to. He's so nervous about it. I admire how tenacious he is. When he sees something he wants, he goes for it.
- Marco: Kind of like me, I guess. How happy is John, now that he is getting married?
- Vanessa: Peter gets e-mails from him now and again. He sounds happy. John is such a gregarious guy. I'm not surprised he found love on a cruise ship!

Learning Points

Questions With How + Adjectives

You use How + adjective in a question if you want to know how someone or something is.

You can use these types of questions when you catch up with someone and ask about other friends or family.

Question	Meaning	Example
How old	Asking about age	How old are you?
How tall	Asking about height	How tall is he?
How far	Asking about distance	How far is it from here?
How busy	Asking about amount of work	How busy are you these days?

Examples:

- How busy is Peter these days?
- How happy is John, now that he is getting married?

Talking About People's Behavior and Personality

When you talk about friends and family, you often describe their behavior and their personalities.

Behavior is the way a person acts or conducts themselves.

Example: Tom is usually relaxed, but today he seems nervous.

Personality is a person's general character (the way they are).

Example: Sandra is a tidy person. Her apartment is always clean and neat.

We use adjectives and adverbs to talk about behavior and personality. Remember that adjectives describe a person - their personality, while adverbs describe how a person does something - their behaviour.

Examples: She's very intelligent. (adjective)

She writes intelligently. (adverb)

Examples:

- You are incredibly talented.
- You cook so effortlessly.
- He's nervous about the job.
- I admire how tenacious he is.
