

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

I'm so sorry ...

Learning Outcome

Identify and provide solutions to problems in a range of social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you find it easy to apologize? Why or why not?
- How do you apologize? What do you do or say?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about what is advisable.
- I can talk about what is necessary.
- I can apologize and respond to apologies.

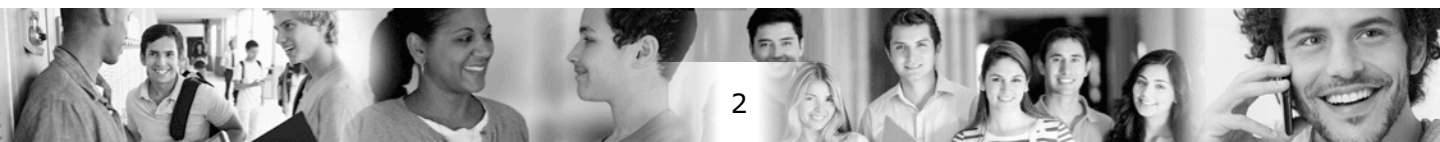

Let's Explore!

Marco and Vanessa try to make up. Who apologizes first?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: I'm sorry I haven't given you a chance, Marco. I'd better stop being so quick to judge. I know you're trying. You came all the way out here to see me and I'm foolishly wasting time being overly sensitive.
- Marco: No, V. I'm sorry. I apologize for saying the things I said. I know I can be annoyingly pushy at times. I ought to be more aware of how my words come across.
- Vanessa: It's OK. I've got to stop being so needy.
- Marco: You're not needy ... you're just emotional. That's OK. I've got to respect your feelings and not belittle them.
- Vanessa: I appreciate you acknowledging that. It really makes me love you more. You can be so understanding and sweet. I'm going to have to remember that ...
- Marco: You'd better not lose your sassiness ... I like it! It's an endearing quality, you know. Keeps things spicy - you know, I like spice in my food and in my women!
- Vanessa: I'm going to have to remember that when I make dinner next.

Let's Practice!

What is advisable?

Instructions: Underline the mistaken words in each sentence.

1. I'd better stopping being so quick to judge.
2. I ought too be more aware of how my words come across.
3. You'll better not lose your sassiness.
4. We ought to tried and be more understanding of each other.
5. She'd better to call him when she gets home.

Let's Practice!

I'm so sorry! No harm done!

Instructions: Use the words in the box to complete each sentence correctly.

Word bank

apologize / appreciate / sorry /
That's OK / Forgive

1. Vanessa: I'm _____ I haven't given you a chance, Marco.
2. Marco: No, V. I'm sorry. I _____ for saying the things I said. I know I can be annoyingly pushy at times.
3. Marco: You're not needy ... you're just emotional. _____.
4. Vanessa: I _____ you acknowledging that. It really makes me love you more.
5. Marco: Please _____ me, Vanessa.

Extension Activity

Let's listen to a song!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Listen to the song "It's too late to apologize" by One Republic.
- Think about how the songs makes you feel.
- Discuss the song with your partner. Do you have the same feelings about it?

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I listen to the song in English.

☐ ☐

I think about how the song makes me feel.

☐ ☐

I discuss the song with my partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- foolishly (adverb): in a foolish way; without thinking
e.g. I'm foolishly wasting my time.
- to be aware (verb): to realize or know something e.g. I ought to be more aware of what I say.
- to come across (verb): to communicate; to give a particular meaning e.g. Be careful how your words come across.
- needy (adjective): emotionally desperate
e.g. I've got to stop being so needy.
- emotional (adjective): relating to someone's emotions or feelings
e.g. You're not needy - you're just emotional.
- to belittle (verb): to make someone feel small and unimportant
e.g. I've got to respect your feelings and not belittle them.
- endearing (adjective): lovable; sweet
e.g. You have many endearing qualities.
- sassiness (noun): liveliness; full of spirit
e.g. I like your sassiness.

Learning Points

Apologizing

You can use different phrases to make and accept an apology.

You apologize when you know you have hurt someone's feelings. There are polite and casual phrases to make and accept an apology.

	Making an Apology	Accepting an Apology
Polite	Pardon me for this ... Please, forgive me for my ... Please, accept my apologies for ... Please, forgive me for ... I'd like to apologize for ...	I quite understand. You couldn't help it. That's all right. Never mind. Don't apologize.
Casual	I'm so sorry for ... I shouldn't have ... It's all my fault. I apologize for ...	It doesn't matter. Don't worry about it. Don't mention it. That's OK. Forget about it. Don't worry about it. No harm done.

Examples:

- Ben: I'm sorry for hurting your feelings.
- Cathy: That's OK. Don't worry about it.

Offering Advice

There are several ways to give advice and each one uses a slightly sentence structure. You can use phrases such as had better, ought to, and might want to to talk about what is advisable (what you think should be done).

You can use these phrases to give advice.

Subject + had better + verb: You'd better not lose your sassiness.

Subject + ought to + verb: I ought to be more aware of how my words come across.

Subject + might want to + verb: you might want to remember that next time.

